

TOWN HALL

Thompson Board of Education Director Nancy Rumfelt

September 22nd 2-4pm Doors open at 1:30pm

Forge Event Center : 815 14th St SW Bldg B120, Loveland

The fight to protect Title IX & female sports isn't just a news story

In Thompson, our female athletes are being forced to compete against males who are transgender and risk injury or to forfeit a game and walk away from scholarship opportunities.

SILENCE IS CONSENT and SILENCE IS NO LONGER AN OPTION

Speakers

Pam Benigno: Director of Independence Institute Education Policy

Her work has been noted in several books, and publications such as the Wall Street Journal, Daily Caller, and Townhall Magazine. Pam's goal is to empower parents with the ability to select the best educational option for their children

David Illingworth: Education and Civil Rights Attorney.

David has made a career out of serving the public as an Air Force JAG, criminal prosecutor, and finally as VP of Woodland Park School Board. He now focuses on educational and civil rights.

Jennifer Sey: Founder of XX-XY Athletics

Jennifer has been speaking truth and standing up for women and children starting in 2008 with her book "Chalked Up" and again in 2020 speaking about the harm closing schools during covid would do to kids. She has now started XX-XY Athletics which is unapologetic about protecting women's sports and spaces.

Q&A will follow the speakers & priority will be given to students, teachers and coaches.

Nancy Rumfelt does not speak for or on behalf of the school board and is sharing her personal opinions and perspective.
